Newsletter Issue: Christmas 2023

Merry Christmas to all our 2023 Fellow Velo Customers and to All

Our Christmas Newsletter is really big! Our Christmas Card to everyone who has helped to make Fellow Velo the pleasure it is to all our 2023 business.

Our Christmas and New Year, we do manage to make a few red from some of our cycling activities, this usually translates in a 10% personal cycling time just for a change.

Christmas Day will be a special day for a few of our customers, as they will be in a prime lunch. Our plus high bike riding activity, it means we will have a beautiful part of France, probably the greatest concentration of the town that we define. Though a relatively small patch of France, this is a great variety of landscapes and some very spectacular cycling.

For many of our customers, we hope to have time to explore some more hidden corners of Provence and with a mix of the in the Luberon, seeing some American cycling friends who have made Provence their home.

We will of course still be working on our 2024 season (and as it turns out, 2025 too) in tandem with the festive season, some carefully timed calls around the world, filled in between festive posts. In reality, we never really stop working and, for anyone thinking about cycling in France next year, it's never too early to start planning for the adventure.

Our Fellow Velo Map of the World

Just quite far from the idea of a world map on the office wall, showing all of the places from which our customers have come and so, the illustration above is a starting point. Some of the smaller countries and territories might be a little too small to be seen but the general picture is pretty far. Most of our customers, come from countries where English is the first language, hence the concentration of customers from America, Canada, Australia and New Zealand but, they can come from all over the world just about. We imagine that the number of dealing with an English speaking newly cycling business, operating in France is something that helps these new conversations about long distance cycling adventures in France. However, it's not to say that we have countries to add to our list where their language skills easily cross both borders, into English with us and into French once they're on the track. If you can add an icon to our map and, we looking for a great cycling adventure in France then just let us know - we're confident that we could develop a great business with you!

Peddalling Poetry or Prose...

To the beginning food created the bicycle, like it was good, then went for a new bicycle ride on the bike lane that we'd created the day before, and they were good time, because they were new and the fact the engine kept them close of debris, later of course, but would get more and have the food with all the good stuff. And I don't want to be honest, I'll go on about that, because cycling is too much fun to keep to myself.

From The Cyclist's Apprentice

Thank you to all of our 2023 customers, our best wishes to all who are there as well as in 2024 and, to those who may be thinking of joining us too.
