Pick 'n' Mix Provence Newsletter Issue: June/July 2019

Autumn Offer

We hope that you're already looking forward to summer adventures but, whether you are yet to make plans or, could be keen to start, a planning your holiday options, we have a great way to include an experience of Provence in your plans.

Choose from one of more of the areas that we have selected and, pick 'n' mix the elements to make a tour that perfectly suits you. Though we have suggested a 5 day package, you could add more days, what's to extend your cycling miles or to add other activities like canoeing, boat trips to islands or wine-tasting visits.

Over the page is a brief description of these special areas of Provence, each with its own character and attractions. Sample photos are based on some sharing accommodation in charming villages and small towns and, include our full self-guided tour support. Elements are available for groups of four or more and, we can add to direct transfers from local airports if that helps with the planning of your trip to Provence.

It's easy to share in a slice of Provence's sunshine and, we'd love to help you do so!

Scourges du Ventoux

The spectacular rugged du Ventoux makes a great starting location from the top of Provence. Dramatic exposures along the Rhône des Crestes can be mixed with the beautiful inland olive waters of the Lac de Sainte Croix as you ride towards the wonderful village of Beaumont de Mercantour.

Make it a very special part of the Provence heritage and, add just a little extra regional support, it really is accessible to all!

Provence Verte

The beating heart of Provence's Var Department is a gently rolling landscape of wooded oak alders, wrapped around a patchwork of quiet villages and hundreds of small vineyards.

Home to France's first officially organic village, taste your way through the hills of the Var and you eat what vine you want, ready to go for more adventures in the land.

Central Provence

Start almost to the top from the Massif des Maures to spend some time in a "Bled by the Sea". Pack your swimwear for miles that embrace the coast, between some of France's most beautiful and largest seaside towns and villages. If you're looking for a little glacial fun, it's trapped in an the mountains but, it's just waiting for the quiet bit, watching the boats playing Patinette then, you can have that too.

Our Competition Winners

Congratulations to our Competition Winners - Budget and Rose - who will be taking on this September for their first ever cycling trip to Provence.

How lucky they will need to dress for warmer climates than in the photos they sent us from being in the UK. Clearly already keen cyclists, it seems that their plan to fit in with the competition was made by adding the possibility of a little 'junk up their wheels'.
