Newsletter Issue: Christmas 2023

Merry Christmas to all our 2023 Fellow Velo Customers and to All

The Christmas Newsletter is really like our Christmas Card to everyone who has helped to make Fellow Velo the pleasure it is to run our B2B business.

Over Christmas and New Year, we do manage to have a few red bus trips some of our cycling activities, the usual 100km or so in a personal cycling time, just for a change.

Christmas Day will no doubt feature a traditional take around the Bay to Coast (Bayer) for a serene lunch. The day begins with cycling across Provence as well, this beautiful part of France provides the greatest concentration of the towns that we deliver. Though a relatively small part of France, it has a good variety of landscapes and some truly spectacular cycling.

The likes of our customers, we hope to have time to explore some more hidden corners of Provence Valley and, with a nice break in the Luberon, seeing some American cycling friends who have now made Provence their home.

The rest of course will be working on our 2024 season (and as I have not 2023 had) in tandem with the festive, some carefully timed calls around the world. Tired in business hours past, in reality, we never really stop working and, for anyone thinking about cycling in France next year, it's never too early to start planning for the adventure.

Our Fellow Velo Map of the World

Just quite before the start of the office year, showing all of the places from which our customers have come, and so, the B2B illustration above is a starting point. Some of the smaller islands and territories might be a little behind a few in terms but the general picture is pretty fair. Most of our customers, come from countries where English is the first language, hence the concentration of customers from America, Canada, Australia and New Zealand but, they can come from all over the world just about. We imagine that the number of dealings with an English speaking native cycling business, operating in France, is certainly that high. Some might conversations about long distance cycling adventures in France. However, it's far from that we have customers to add to our list where, their language skills, easily cross such hurdles, into English with us and, into French once they're on the road. If you can add or join to our list, we are, we looking for a good cycling adventure in France that, add to our list - we're confident that we could have a great time with you!

Peddalling Poetry or Prose . . .

To the beginning God created the bicycle, and it was good, then came for a new bicycle ride on the lake where the the it crossed the day before, and they were good, because they were new and the fact the origin keep them out of debt, in order of course, I'd would get more and from the food, with the good only, and I'd God used to himself, I'd as create that, because cycling is too much fun to keep to myself.
