Provence in Late Summer – 'You and Your Usulels'

Provence can be great for cycling all year round but, it is in the early and later summer months that it is perhaps at its best for long sunny days but without the highest temperatures of late July and August. Most of our customers come as couples, families or groups of friends but, we occasionally have lone cyclists, on the trail to explore the landscape and perhaps to discover something more about themselves.

At the beginning of the year, we had Bert, with his accordion riding a Fellow Velo bike at the France Show, and last month one of our cyclists arrived with their usulels, ready to hit the cycling trail. Each day we would catch up with Jeanette to hear news of where and for whom she had been sending the previous day. It was a day, village square and the valleys of Provence were all treated to the gentle sound of the strings...

... and the soft voice in the strings, being written into figured along the way with notes inspired by the places traveled through and the stars above the Emperor's tower (and hills) for – hours).

So, whether you too have a usulel that you like to keep in line or if like Bert's "M's" Usulel, you are blessed to your family, don't imagine that the thing you can't have to be without couldn't still make up your cycling holiday too.

We've not yet added the usulels to our standard kit list, 'twas a pity wasn't it?

Carry on Through the Camargue

We are now just preparing for our last customer cycling tour of 2016, covering the Camargue of Provence.

The ride will be starting just west of the Camargue, before cycling through the wild beauty of the National Park, and then, traveling across Provence to end in a 'Ded by the Mail' in the Vic.

This tour is partly guided and part self-guided, on our bespoke tour packages, we really do aim to be as flexible as possible so we can ensure that our cyclists can capture every part of their cycling dreams.

Like all of our Provence tours, it aims to mix well known highlights with hidden gems; local knowledge makes that your own tour can be built around very specific wishes and the season or even date, it means which can be uncovered in this part of the world.

These elements can be found year round, and aren't just from your standard tourism calendar. So, in September it might be that your are swept up in the Vendange as the grapes are harvested or, even into October, it could be strolling across a local 'boony festival' on your day's ride.
